YOUNGER DEPARTS TUESDAY.

Does Not Believe Statement Attributed to Frank James.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—"I shall leave here for Missouri Tuesday next," said Cole Younger to-day. "It will be impossible for me to get my affairs in shape before that time."

He will go direct to Kansas City, where he will visit friends, and from there to Independence for a short stay. Just what business he will engage in Younger does not know. Several of his old-time friends in Southland have offered to furnish him money to engage in the stock business, as Younger has no money. It is more than likely that he will accept the offer. He is already more or less familiar with the stock. Younger said he did not expect Frank James or any of his old-time friends would come here to meet him, as he has suggested, and he was not disposed to believe the report that Frank James had expressed dissatisfaction with the conditions attached to the pardon granted by the Minnesota authorities.

TWO MURDERERS PAY THE DEATH PENALTY

Steve Clark and Will Gatlin Are Hanged on Gallows at Poplar Bluff, Mo.

BEAR UP BRAVELY TO THE END.

Both Join the Church and Take the Last Sacrament Before Leaving Their Cells in the Jail.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Poplar Bluff, Mo., Feb. 6.—Steve Clark and Will Gatlin, a negro, paid the death penalty on the gallows this afternoon. Both men were convicted of murder. They bore bravely. Before going to their death they took the last sacrament, both having joined the Catholic Church.

The deed for which Clark paid the death penalty this afternoon was the murder of Pearl Clark, his common law wife, on Tuesday, June 25, 1901.

Several months previous to the murder a railroad man by the name of Lewis caused trouble between the pair and had been ordered from the house twice by Clark. On June 25, 1901, after a quarrel with the woman, Clark left the house in the morning. He met Lewis in a Fifth avenue wine-house after dinner, and after a little conversation with him and a woman, Clark started for his home, known as the "Rabbit House," in Poplar Bluff.

When he arrived there he heard Lewis and Pearl Clark talking in the rear of the house. He went into the house, picked up a butcher knife as he went through the dining-room. He went out on the back porch, and after a few moments he returned. He then stabbed her to death and she fell at his feet. He stooped and kissed her, then drew the knife into his own breast, protruding the left lung. He struck too far to the right to inflict a fatal wound and after a few weeks recovered.

William Gatlin was convicted on the charge of complicity in the murder of Tom Graham, a negro, on September 15, 1901.
